MAY CHANGE THE MAIN LINE.

Going Over the Washout Section With The Object of Determining What Can be Done.

Vice President and General Manager W. H. Bancroft, of the Oregon Sho Line, General Manager R. E. Weils of the Salt Lake Route, and Chief Engineer William Hood, of the Southern Pacific railroad, left Salt Lake City this morning on a special for a trip over the Clark road south. The object of the trip at this time, is to make a thorough inspection of the portion of the road lately damaged by washouts, with the purpose of determining what is best to be done in the premises in regard to reconstructing the line. The heavy expense of maintaining the road in the washhout districts, es pecially if on investigation it develops that the road cannot be permanently guarded against recurrences of the recent disastrous flood effects, may lead the officials to conclude that it would be cheaper in the long run to build the road around the linstable washout portion of the line. It is said that both portions of the country will be gone over, and notes taken by Engineer Hood, and comparisons made for the purpose of determining what is best to be done. to be done.

ADVANCE IN FREIGHT RATES. Pennsylvania Lines File Tariffs for Increase on Iron and Steel.

crease on Iron and Steel.

Pittsburg, May 2.—Railroads in Pittsburg district have filed tariffs with the interstate commerce commission for a general advance in freight rates to become effective June 1. Probably the most important feature of the advance in the rates, as far as Pittsburg is concerned, is the general increase of 10 per cent on all fron and steel finished materials and the advance of 7½ per cent on pig iron and billets.

The tariffs were filed in accordance with the rwing of the commission, that the proposed changes in rates of all kinds must be made public at least 30 days before they become effective.

At is said that the advance in freight rates this year is greater than was ever announced in previous years. Practically every freight rate has or will be advanced and it is reported that coal carrying roads are now considering the question of making a still further advance in coal freight rates.

The new rates will affect not only the Pittsburg district, but all points east

The new rates will affect not only the Pittsburg district, but all points east of the Mississippi river. The present rate for pig iron from the Mahoning and Shenango valleys to Pittsburg is 25 cents a ton, and under the new tariff will be 95 cents a ton.

ened to Kill and Called Her Vile Names.

Lena L. Magerl today filed an amended complaint for divorce against her husband, Joseph E. Magerl, in the district court in which she charges him with extreme cruelty. She alleges that Magerl came home on Feb. 28, 1907 and foreibly entered their home and drew a revolver on her, threatening to kill her. At the same time she claims that he beat and kicked her and called her a "dog" and a "sow," and used the following insulting language towards her: "You are not fit for the company of dogs." They were married on Oct 14 1897

Mrs. Magerl was mixed up in a scandal with one J. A. Peebles some time ago, when her husband returned to his home and found the two in a very compromising position. Peebles assaulted Magerl and hammered him over the head with a revolver, and was later charged with assault with a deadly charged with assault with a deadly weapon and also with criminal con-duct with Mrs. Magerl. He was bound over to the district court on both charges, but has evidently jumped his bond, as his cases have been continued for the term by Judge Armstrong, ow-ing to the failure of Peebles to show up, and a bench warrant has been is sued for his arrest and is now in the hands of Sheriff Emery.

The jurors were brought into court at the time stated and informed Judge Ritchie that there was no probability of them arriving at an agreement as to the verdict, hence they were discharged and the case will have to be tried before another jury. The action was brought to recover damages in the sum of $4,000 for hijaries claimed to have been received by the boy in an assault made upon him by Robert St. Clair, an employe of defendant, at the stable, on July 10, 1906. It is alleged that McDaniel was employed at the stable and that St. Clair assaulted him and landed one blow on the ear which it is claimed has permanently effected the boy's hearing.

Judge Morse has rendered a decree in favor of plaintiff in the case of John Oldham against Nellie Perry quieting plaintiff's title to the part of lot 8, block 76, plat A, Salt Lake City survey. Oldham was also given another divorce from the defendant, who was formerly his wife and claimed an interest in the property. After the divorce was granted, the woman went to San Francisco, where she married a San Francisco, where she married a man by the name of Parry. Notwith-standing that fact, she still claimed to be the wife of Oldham and claimed an interest in his property to such an extent that it was a cloud upon the title. The court again decreed that the defendant was not the wife of plaintiff and quieted his title to the property involved.
